Elizabeth Gregory Home provides a welcoming and respectful refuge where women who are experiencing homelessness, trauma, or economic insecurity have access to a caring community and critical resources.

Our vision is a community where all women have safety, shelter, resources, and the opportunity to thrive.

Our Programs

We build our programs and services on the values of respect, inclusion, community, and empathy.

Day Shelter
Experiencing homelessness means women lack many of the simple things we take for granted every day – a hot shower, a place to eat, or just somewhere to sit down and rest in a comfortable chair. To meet these needs, the drop-in Day Shelter, located in the heart of Seattle's University District, is open six days a week and provides guests with a range of vital services.

Transitional Housing
The Transitional Housing Program provides a safe place for women leaving shelters to find the support and guidance they need to get back on their feet. We offer supportive services for up to two years to prepare participants to live independently and reduce the risk of returning to homelessness. Professionally trained staff coordinate the program and manage the facility. We provide comprehensive care management, which includes working with residents on their self-identified life goals.
